

THE WAGON

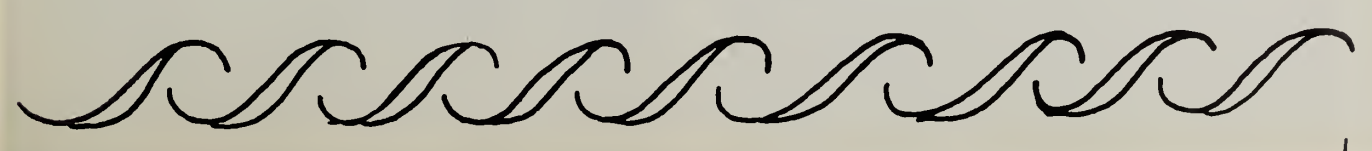

TIMARON

1965

MEMORIAL HIGH
MIDDLEBORO, MASS.

*"Everyman, I will go with thee, and be thy guide,
In thy most need to go by thy side."*

APPRECIATION

Mrs. Helen Millet

In appreciation of her tireless work and her dedicated service, we, the Timaron Editorial Board, gratefully deem Mrs. Helen Millet more than worthy of this special recognition.

We not only respect her high standards in the classroom, but we also sincerely appreciate the contributions which she has made to each one of us. During eight years of teaching junior English, Drama, and Developmental Reading at MHS, Mrs. Millet has demonstrated those qualities which are given to only a gifted few, and which prove her to be a truly exceptional teacher.

For twenty-seven years, Miss Margaret Ryder served at MHS—first as the teacher of freshman English, and afterward as the school librarian. The members of the Class of 1965, in view of Miss Ryder's long, dedicated service to the high school, express their appreciation.

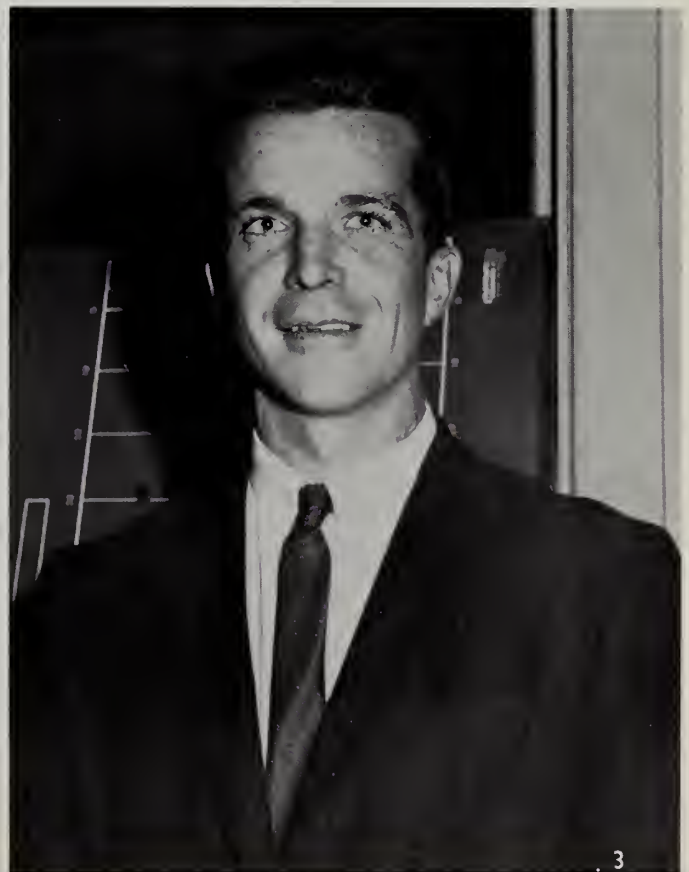

Miss Margaret Ryder

DEDICATION

Mr. Robert Brown

This year Timaron is dedicated to Mr. Brown in appreciation of the major role he has played in our sports program. We, the Class of 1965, feel that this program is an integral part of high school life and that "Coach" Brown, as coach of our basketball, baseball, and freshman football teams, and assistant coach of the varsity football team, has contributed immeasurably to the success of the program and to the spirit of the school. Like a skilled artisan, he has shaped his raw material, eager boys, into teams which, even when they sometimes failed to win a championship, have been successful in that they played well. At the same time, his good sportsmanship has been a fine example for the students of MHS to follow.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

To be enterprising means getting things done. For proof of this, it is necessary only to look around this great country of ours built by imaginative and hardworking men and women. Enterprise is a belief in the possibility of improving things and in one's ability to do the job. Striving for improvement has been behind every human creation and every contribution to our way of life.

To you, the members of the Class of 1965, this "new world" in which we live offers special opportunities for enterprise and fruitful lives. My very best wishes go with you.

Stanley Kruszyna,
Superintendent of Schools

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

SEATED, left to right: James M. Bonnar, Jr., Vice-chairman; C. Trafton Mendall, Chairman; Kathryn R. O'Toole.
STANDING: Richard B. Wilmot, Robert F. Howes, Vincent L. Genua, Stanley Kruszyna, Superintendent of Schools.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

At long last, graduation and the end of school? The end of learning? Not for many. But is it for others

The word "end" is an interesting one. Implicit in it is the idea that a series of events, progression if you wish, has reached fruition, or perchance has inexorably ceased in time. A finality presumes a beginning. Here our discourse becomes vague, actually confused. For intuitively, what pre-determines a beginning if not a void . . . motionless . . . aught. Certainly, in fairness to all realia, an end could not have been precedent to a beginning. Something new comes into focus: with moto primo firmly established, entropy precludes any end whatsoever.

So it is for all of you at this time—fruitful years ahead for unspent energy, years for sublimation, years for endless search. Indelible truth so aptly expressed in the words of Skakespeare:

"Like as the waves make toward the pebbled shore,
So do our minutes hasten to their end;
Each changing place with that which goes before.
In sequent toil all forwards do contend . . ."

Kenneth L. Johnson
Principal

VICE-PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Members of the Class of 1965:

Everyman's life should be an open book to be read by all mankind, a book filled with deeds of courage, patience, affection, kindness, moral strength, and understanding. For even in the least of us is an unquenchable spark of creation. As you live, write a story of your life that will inspire other men.

EDITORIAL BOARD

SEATED, left to right: Glenna Fickert, Editor-in-chief; Robert Spencer, Assistant Editor.
STANDING: Susan Hydorn, Judith Wiksten, Leslie Roy, and Janice Curley, Assistant Editors.

We, the Timaron 1965 Editorial Board, have chosen the theme of "Great Books" in conjunction with the motto of the Class of 1965: "We finish only to begin." When we read a great book, we complete it only to begin understanding and benefiting from its message. Likewise, our education in high school has come to an end, but we shall never cease to learn if we apply our past knowledge and experience.

We should like to express our appreciation to Mr. King, Miss Wetherell, Miss Burniston. As yearbook advisors, they execute an unbelievable amount of "behind the scenes" work. It has not gone unnoticed.

CLASS HISTORY

History has served through the ages as a means of recording events for posterity. It has preserved such dynamic events as the rise and fall of the Roman Empire, the Crusades, the Norman Conquest, the American and French Revolutions, and two World Wars. Now the whole world can heave a sigh of relief and relax because the history of the Class of 1965 is ready to be placed in the annals of all-time great events. Among the ignoble accomplishments credited to the Class of 1965 are cranberry sweatshirts, eye makeup, Levis, and berets.

We penetrated the ivy walls of Memorial High School for the first time in September, 1961. On the first day of school, the freshmen had visions of taking the school by storm and completely domineering the upperclassmen. This well might have happened, but the upperclassmen did not come to school until the second day. We were completely demoralized and reduced to quivering masses of jelly. Later, the frosh football team scored a successful season and restored our self-confidence. The freshman officers elected in the winter were "Chickie" Marshall, president; Phil Jardullo, vice-president; Millie Cole, Treasurer; and Jerome Burke, secretary. At our first silver "M" Assembly Chickie Marshall and Sheila Murphy were elected by their classmates.

Our freshman teachers created indelible traumas in our minds. Mr. James was almost drawn and quartered in discussions of Communism and the Reformation. Then, too, there were the "meatheads" in room 26 and the near coup d'etat in algebra I. At the end of our first year, our numbers were reduced substantially by the loss of our Carver classmates to Apponequet in Lakeville.

Our sophomore year was much calmer compared to that first year. We moved forward under the guidance of our public servants, Dave Thomas, president; Phil Jardullo, vice-president; Bonnie MacAulay, secretary; and Dave Marzelli, treasurer. In December Bonnie MacAulay and Dave Thomas were elected to Silver "M." At the tender ages of fourteen and fifteen, we were introduced to the marvelous art of dissection. Certain students with weak intestinal fortitude tried to pay other students to do their cutting! The class also lost a most talented art student in the biology class to a more exclusive school. No one has ever replaced Bill Bonnar.

The Junior Varsity football team enjoyed a successful season, and the JV basketball team began a winning streak that in our three years has seen only two defeats in forty-eight starts. Charlie Lange became the pride of the Cross Country and Track teams. Charlie broke many of Joe Cushing's track records, much to Joe's dismay. Joe was graduating in June and would have no chance to avenge himself.

Mr. Mann and Mrs. Whipple helped us in our first money-making venture as a class. The event was the traditional sophomore Christmas dance. The profits made our treasurer, Dave Marzelli, quite happy, though this hardly put him in a class with J. P. Morgan.

At last it was two down and two to go! Our junior year was one of trial and tribulation. Early in September we were introduced to the tests facing us. Many Saturday mornings were spent in Bridgewater and in Brockton. After each test we emerged a little wiser in the knowledge of what we did not know. Our class officers that year were Charlie Lang, president; Bob Spencer, vice-president; Dave Marzelli, treasurer; and Bonnie MacAulay, secretary. Bob Orlov and Glenna Fickert were elected to Silver "M." The theme of the Junior Prom was "Through the Looking Glass." Lewis Carroll's characters were the decorations on the walls. Our thanks to our class advisors, Mrs. Buck and Mr. James, and to Miss Dowd for her aid in the art department. Ten juniors inducted into National Honor Society were Charlie Lang, Glenna Fickert, Joyce Tomasik, Barry Haskell, Juanita Wilmot, Leslie Roy, Robert Orlov, Kenneth Butler, Dave Kayajan, and Chickie Marshall.

Senior Last Chapel was a sad affair, for many of those who were leaving were our friends. Many of our teachers left, also. Mr. Alger, Mr. James, Mr. Walton, and Mrs. McDonald have all defected to the big cities. Our principal, Mr. Manos, also left in the summer. The Indians are still in hot pursuit of him, though. Our best wishes go to all of them in their new jobs.

The summer passed quickly, and September of 1964 found us, the seniors. There were many new faces in the corridors and behind the desks in the classrooms. New, too, was the face in the front office. The Class of 1965 bids all the new teachers and Mr. Johnson, welcome. The outstanding football stars became the backbone of the football team. The team continued its winning and losing ways. Mr. Antone was assisted by Mr. Masi, who sat on the bench in the role of the new athletic director. Mr. Masi was to find no company in Mr. Majuri in the nerve ward, for the Cross Country team performed nobly.

The big news of the year was the basketball team. The arrival of Zack Simmons was heralded as out "ticket to the tech tourney." Our team went "all the way" with Coach Brown. Don Salley, Dave Marzelli, Gary Lees, Bunny Eldridge, and Zack left their uniforms for the next year's starting five to fill. In December Diana Deschamps, Judy Wiksten, Bob Spencer, Sue Hydorn, Linda Shaw, and Janice Curley were inducted into the National Honor Society. Gary Lees and Charlie Lang were tapped for Silver "M." Our class officers were all returned to their posts.

The last four years have been happy and secure ones at MHS. Friendships have been warm and sincere. We are about to leave all of this now and strike out on our own. What happens between now and 1970 will be interesting to relate at our first class reunion.

CLASS WILL

Being of sound minds and bodies, the honorable, prosperous, and mighty class of 1965 bequeaths the following:

To the faculty—sincere gratitude for four years of guidance and patience.

To the freshmen—worthwhile experience to last a lifetime.

To the sophomores and juniors—power with humility to lead us upper classmen.

Donna Tanguay leaves Patty Dunn an opening for an exciting year at M.H.S.

Dwayne and Kenny leave their broken test tubes and defective Bunsen burner to Dave Carver and Bill Akins—good luck!

Mille Cole leaves "Sissy" Marshall an empty bag of chips to blow up in Tripp's.

Bunny, Judy, Dedee, and Leslie leave to Buck's Drugstore: one cup, some scraps of poetry, Timmy, Brad, and Dave.

Patty Townes leaves Nancy on the ramp doing her English all by herself.

Barbara leaves the chem lab and all its sulphur powder to future chemists.

The great hunters, McDonald and Beckman, leave the shack and an empty box of shells to George Thompson.

Dave Marzelli speeds away in his little red bug.

Jan Allison leaves Sandy two more happy years of school.

Linda Shaw leaves her seat in home room to brothers Jim and Jerry.

Evelyn leaves, walking to Fort Devens to join Tommy.

Charlie and Woody leave to the tune of "Little GTO".

Tommy Boucher leaves the music department better off.

Mary Gaskin leaves Jackie Bourque one slightly stale life saver.

Dwight Rockwell leaves his place in line at the All-State auditions.

Janice leaves a fountain pen to the next secretary of the Student Council.

Nanette leaves for the mountains of Maine in the Bonneville, followed by Pam and Jane on the Honda.

Bonnie MacAulay leaves a sinkful of towels and a bottle of chlorox to Ann Farley.

Marcia Hayden leaves Rose in a baggy gym suit to vault the Swedish box.

Susan Thompson leaves Walter Sampson to "Peory."

"Bri", Fred, Jack, Harry, Jim, and Charlie leave the cross country team's football to the fearsome freshmen.

Louisa Amarel leaves all her doubts to the next doubtful person.

Jack Powell leaves his tiger shirt to his brother.

Nancy Prescott leaves Stephenie to carry on in her own traditional way.

"Bud" leaves his broken racket to Arthur Judge.

Gordon wills his B sharps from the souzaphone to Joe Walker.

Bob leaves to make room for another Yarsites.

Janet DeArruda leaves Ricky Robidoux an empty seat in Russian class.

Bruce Bradford leaves, driving a carful of girls to the Rex and Craigville Beach.

Dave Kayajan leaves Charlie Norvish to lead the trumpet section next year.
Joyce Tomasik leaves her broken fingernails to the typewriters in C-1.
Harry, Jay, Bob, and Bill leave in a red Plymouth for Las Vegas.
Dottie Willis leaves Dicky Bell half a roll of life savers.
Cheryl leaves the presidency of the Biology Club to Arthur Shaw, uncontested.
Sheila and Diane leave their long hair to Tara, Nadine, and Mellanie. (ouch, those snarls!)

Eric leaves his dancing shoes to Bobby Kerrigan and Dick Bourne.
Marilyn leaves through the front door "walking the dog" to the Mexicana.
Glenna leaves her back yard to Steve Graham's goose.
Mike Garafalo leaves for North Lakeville leaving Nancy looking for a car.
Brian leaves his string bass bow and broken mouthpiece to Ronnie.
Linda Benoit leaves to join Walt—at the gas pumps.
June Stuart leaves Rounseville a lot quieter.
Sharon and Pam will leave, walking on their feet.
Caroline leaves the blue bomb to Evy, Suzanne, and Linda.
Linda Bassett leaves gladly for the A&P.
Bill Robbins leaves John.
David Silvia leaves his jokes for Doug Foye to tell.
Bill Curley divides his Latin knowledge among Steve Barnicoat, Doug Soule, and Ricky Bonnar.

The Jolly Green Giant leaves the study halls in an uproar.

We, the Class of 1965, having examined the aforementioned statements, do bequeath these valuable gifts to our worthy heirs, and we have hereunto set our hand and seal in this year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty-five.

CLASS PROPHECY

"Zincfinger"

—Reviewed by Judith Wiksten and Leslie Roy

June 9, 1975—On the tenth anniversary of the graduation of the Class of 1965, another addition has been made to the annals of human history. Having already climbed to the top of the best seller list, Zincfinger, first work of the great new novelist "Youngblood" Spencer, has immortalized the deeds of the members of his illustrious class.

Hailed as the great American novel by critic Leslie Roy, and banned in Massachusetts under the ruling of Supreme Court judge David Kayajan, "Zincfinger" has been met by a more liberal welcome in Middleboro. It is being discussed by all MHS students, as progressive teachers Diane Krikorian, Marsha Ryder, Bonnie MacAulay, Betty Sullivan, Janet Lee, Juanita Wilmot, and coaches Dave Thomas and Dave Marzelli have found. On its cover, designed by artist June Stuart, appears the face of its dashing secret hero, Steve Blais.

As the story opens, our hero is seen entering the Pentagon. He is greeted by secretaries Louisa Amaral, Nancy Prescott, Linda Shaw, Beth Standish, and Phyllis Hinckley. He proceeds to the office of CIA chief Sheldon Phinney, from whom he receives his latest dangerous assignment. However, just as he is leaving the office, he is hit mysteriously from behind with a can of beans. He is taken to Bethesda Naval Hospital with incredible speed by ambulance driver Steve Kahian. There he is, tenderly cared for by nurses Linda Wood, Sheila Murphy, Jane Thatcher, Barbara Krol, and Joyce Tomasik. During his short stay in the hospital, he is visited by subordinate agents Bruce Handy, Eric Andrews, Normand Letendre, and James Hammond, who present him with a pair of madras pajamas.

His assignment takes him to the small town of Middleboro, which is suspected to be the base of operations of the notorious spy, Zincfinger. Here he meets the CIA's answer to Mata Hari, Vicki Keefe, who has enlisted the aid of private investigators Don "Snoop" Salley and Phil Jardullo. They report to Steve that Zincfinger's plot seems to involve Nemasket Hill.

That evening Steve attends a party given at the home of tycoon Howard Marshall. Present are chiropractor Robert "Doc" Martin, big-game hunter Bri "Bwana" Beckman, nuclear physicist Dwayne Cameron, owner of Paramount Studios Susan Thompson, and Celtics' stars Zack Simmons, Gary Lees, and "Bunny" Eldridge. The last is accompanied by a certain young lady whose long red hair has been styled by beautician Pat Townes. Arriving slightly late are naturalists Cheryl Townsend and Susan Hydorn. Taking careful note of the proceedings is society columnist Grace Goggin.

Suddenly a can of beans is hurled through the plate glass window toward Blais. However, he slips on a banana peel discarded by "Mud" Quint. The can misses Blais and strikes a mysterious stranger, whose drink shatters, disclosing a bugged olive. Examination of the body reveals the stranger to be one of Zincfinger's agents. Having discovered a spy among them, the guests soon disperse.

Meanwhile, Blais quickly gets into his GTO, customized by mechanics John Sylvia, Paul Brigham, Dick Tardiff, and Jessie DeArruda. But, instead of his chauffeur, Bruce Bradford, he finds another ZinCFinger agent, who sprays him with sleeping gas, throws him in the back seat, and speeds off toward Nemasket Hill.

Hours later, Blais wakes up to find himself in ZinCFinger's vast complex of tunnels under Nemasket Hill. A surly guard ascertains that he is awake, leaves the room, and returns with the notorious ZinCFinger himself. ZinCFinger, smiling triumphantly, explains his plot: a vast deposit of zinc has been discovered lying under the entire town of Middlesboro. Scientists from the Republic of Nextovia have developed the ultimate weapon, the zincbomb, with which they plan to destroy all their enemies, including the United States. Having disclosed this diabolical scheme, ZinCFinger reveals Blais' fate to him. He is to be encased in zinc and thrown into the Nemasket River, to sink into its depths, with only alewives for company. The whole town of Middlesboro will submerge as the zinc is mined for the bomb. Blais thinks to himself, "It's all over!" But at that moment, Salley and Jardullo, who have been investigating the moon with a telescope from the side of Nemasket Hill, come crashing, telescope and all down through a gopher hole, landing on top of ZinCFinger and the guard and knocking them unconscious. Jardullo yells, "Do your stuff, Doc!", and the three make for the exit. Instead of finding fresh air, however, they blunder into a dark cavern, from which emanate the three cryptic syllables: "Ho . . . Ho . . . Ho . . .". It is none other than the Jolly Green Giant, secret weapon of the enemy spies. He is busily canning beans. Suddenly, Salley hurls a can at him, which enrages him to the point that he runs amuck, hurling cans right and left. The reverberations cause the walls to start caving in. The hill crumbles just as the heroic three burst into the sunlight, leaving ZinCFinger, the giant, and all the enemy agents buried in the rubble. Blais and company have saved America.

To show his appreciation, the President of the United States, Charles Lang, and Vice-president Barry Haskell, return to their home to give Blais a hero's welcome. The ceremony, held at Battis Field, recently re-designed by civil engineer Robert Yarsites, is attended by World Court interperter Glenna Fickert, Senators Bill and Janice Curley, and town dignitaries Bob Colucci, Dave Kwessel, Bob Caswell, and Mike Garafalo. Also present are eminent psychiatrist Dr. Bob Orlov, and Olympic riding champions Dedee Sullivan and Julie Howes.

This ceremony, at which Blais, Salley, and Jardullo were praised for their quick wit and nerves of steel was climaxed by the dedication of MHS, which will for evermore be known as Steve Blais Memorial High. Before the general merrymaking began, Blais surreptitiously jetted back to Washington and his next dangerous assignment.

DRAMA CLUB

Under the direction of Mrs. Millet, the Drama Club engages in various activities linked to the production of plays. Members study the theater both as a profession and a worthwhile hobby. A group goes to Boston each month to attend performances at the Charles Playhouse. At the regular meetings members read plays and discuss the plays they have seen. This year more emphasis has been placed on production techniques, and it is hoped that this will not only make better actors of the members but will also make them more keenly aware of the artistry involved in acting well.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB

TOP TO BOTTOM: B. Vickery, I. Bessey, K. Heimerdinger, E. Carver, G. Weston, B. Krol, M. Lavoie, J. Brackett, B. Bessey, Treasurer; P. Shaw, Secretary; L. Bassett, Vice-president; J. Marshall, President; Mrs. Pardey, Advisor.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Pardey, their faculty advisor, the members of the Future Nurses Club pursue many activities with the purpose of learning more about the nursing profession. Speakers are invited to talk about the various facts of nursing. Members give demonstrations of nursing techniques, and often films are used to help the girls toward a better understanding of nurses and nursing. This year the group undertook a Christmas project consisting of making tray mats for use at the Colonial Cottage. In addition to all these activities, the group takes field trips to various hospitals and nursing schools. Girls thus are able to decide if nursing is the right profession for them.

This year students at MHS had the opportunity of becoming members of the newly formed branch of the nation wide Future Teachers of America. The club was formed to promote interest in the profession of teaching by Mr. Henry B. Burkland, former principal of the Burkland Junior High School. Mr. Burkland, who acted as advisor, established bimonthly meetings with various speakers such as Mr. Kenneth Warchol and Mr. Louis Klaiman, students at Bridgewater State College. On one occasion members visited the School Street School for observation of elementary teaching. Although not all the members of the Future Teachers of America will become teachers, they have achieved a better understanding of the teacher and the teacher's problems.

Beckman, R. Eldridge, H. Wilson, P. Savard, Secretary-Treasurer; N. Williams, J. Mullen, R. Spencer, President; D. Pennington.

This year has been one of achievement for the A Cappella Choir. Under the direction of Mr. Mogilnicki, the choir played an integral role in a very successful Thanksgiving Concert. Then, after a long period of strenuous rehearsals, they performed a choral version of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite". During the Christmas season, they appeared in the Christmas Parade, went caroling, and held the Second Annual Christmas Choir Reunion. Seven singers qualified to participate in the Southeastern District Chorus in Weymouth. They were Lynne Spencer, June Stuart, Gail Mullen, Dwight Rockwell, Roger Thomas, Harold Wilson, and Robert Spencer. Two choir members qualified for All State: Dwight Rockwell and Harold Wilson. One of the greatest achievements of the Choir was that thirty choristers qualified for SEMSBA, making Middleboro the most highly represented town in the chorus.

This year our basketball team achieved first place in the Old Colony League. Let's not forget that our cheerleaders made first place, too. The girls elected Sheila Murphy and Diane Krikorian to be their Co-Captains, and they have certainly done their best in making this year a success. Being a cheerleader can mean lots of fun, but it also entails hard work. During the football season, the girls practiced forty-five minutes three times per week. This fall, in an effort to arouse more school spirit, they created two new cheers: "Ready-Oh!," and "Middleboro Sachems Rate." Still ringing in our ears is the sound of that old familiar "ECHO" cheer: "Victory! Victory! That's our cry!"
